Sunol area protesting ridge plans

SUNOL — County planning commissioners were treated to a geology lecture and detailed slide show last night as Sunol citizens jammed their elementary school to protest Carl Nipper's proposed "Rancho Sunol Estates."

At stake are Nipper's plans for 95 large, estate homes on 440 acres of the Pleasanton Ridge overlooking Sunol.

Opponents of the project were greeted with applause from the obviously supportive audience of about 300. Leaders of SCORE — Sunol Citizens Organized Regarding the Environment — also solicited signatures for a petition aimed at influencing the planning commission and county board of supervisors in their final decision.

Some 200 signatures from the town's population of about 450 are now on the petition.

Chabot College instructor and a Sunol resident Hans Peaters held the commission and audience spellbound as he briefly summarized 20 million years of geological history.

Punctuating his lecture with slides, he said the Sunol and Pleasanton ridges are soft mud heaps on an ancient ocean floor.

Both ridges are pocked with mud slides since the Kilkare Canyon dividing them basically is bordered by steep, muddy hills.

"Anywhere the soil is disturbed," he said, "it goes down the hill ... and that's the key."

Nipper's plans would further erode the hills endangering people in both Sunol and the proposed ridge top community, he added.

Prairie, golden and bald eagles soar over the canyon, he said.

Neighbor Rob Marshall said his property joins the Nipper ranch and would border two of the proposed home sites.

The problem with mud slides, he said, "has gotten worse over the years." Rains in 1973 "carried mud down to my bedroom," he added.

During normally wet winters a small culvert on his property "runs like crazy." he added.

He said 75 per cent of the runoff is on the western canyon side. But the only setback is 200 feet on the east side.

Planning commissioners will take public testimony on the draft environmental impact report until March 28.

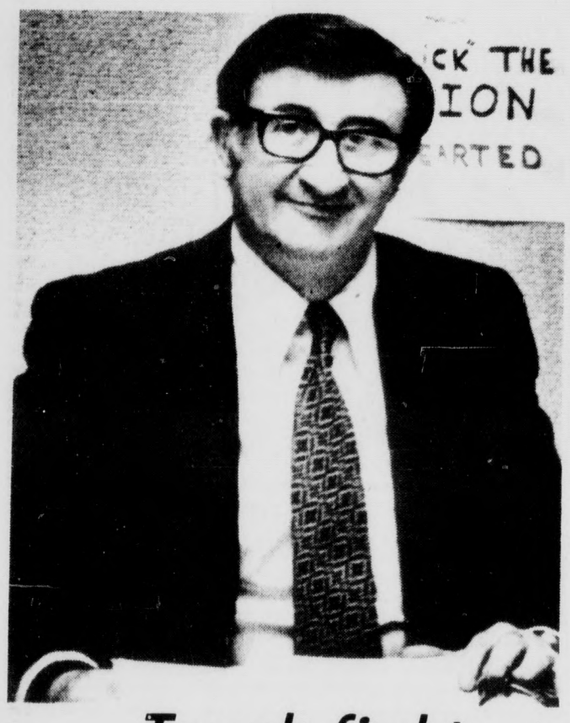
Mostly fair through Thursday in the Valley but with night and morning fog. Fog locally dense. High temperatures in the mid 50s to mid 60s and lows in the 30s. Livermore 35 to 63.



Tough fight

Nick DiTota was nominated as the Livermore Lions Club candidate for Honorary Mayor of the Valley by popular acclamation, exclaiming "We've got some stiff competition, but we welcome it in good fellowship and will work enthusiastically to win election." He will present a full platform of activities before the Lions board of directors this week. The campaign for a Mayor of the Valley sponsored by the Dublin Lions will pit six local clubs in friendly competition to see which can raise the most funds for its favorite charity.

Twentieth century ranch— rules can get you down

LIVERMORE — Is it sophistication, or just red tape, that has the bucolic Resource Conservation District in its icy grasp?

Not so long ago they were just a bunch of ranchers, getting together in their cowboy boots and down jackets to talk agriculture over a plate of corn chips.

Now they are groaning over conflict of interest statements. Inviting Supervisor Valerie Raymond over to talk politics. Even writing to Assemblyman Floyd Mori to complain about the sluggish Conservation Corps program.

The Resource Conservation District — or RCD, as it's called — is located at 1560 Catalina Court in offices shared with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

Together the agencies provide advice to ranchers and farmers on how to manage their land. A staff of professionals can give a landowner help on building a pond, clearing a creek, stopping erosion or choosing the right grass seed.

The RCD is run by a board of ranchers from the area, like Harry Lefever, August Hagemann, Connie Frydendal, Ed Rundstrom and Marty Martin. Mostly, meetings have been a low - key affair — running a speakers' contest for high - school students, talking about who's building a dam, planning the annual report.

But that was before taxes went up, a drought devastated the Valley, the Army Corps of Engineers started poking around Alameda Creek and the county started requiring board members to file financial disclosures.

Now, they're facing a public hearing, set for 10 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 15, on the proposed conflict of interest code they're supposed to adopt by March 1.

"I don't see how in the Sam Hill you could get a board of directors of farmers where there isn't a little conflict of interest on a board like this," complained Martin, after hearing Rundstrom's report on the new directive at Tuesday's all - morning meeting.

"Why do they have to know our personal business?" Lefever wanted to know. Rundstrom predicted many other boards and commissions are going to "wake up screaming bloody murder" when they take a hard look at the new requirements.

Supervisor Raymond will be coming to their March 2 meeting to enlighten the ranchers on some of the seemingly mysterious workings of the county, especially when it comes to zoning, taxes and other areas of vital interest to them.

Meanwhile, director Hagemann is plumping for federal relief to Alameda County in the wake of a disastrous two - year drought. And Rundstrom has been going to Army Corps of Engineers meetings to make sure farmers will be alerted to critical watershed decisions that may be made.

The board also decided at Tuesday's meeting to bring in fresh information on all fronts by appointing "associate directors" to the board — people like Rich Matteis of the Farm Bureau or a Valerie Raymond aide, who would be up on all the latest legislation — and someone from the county schools office, so the RCD can learn how to disseminate more information to students.

Do-si-do

Board members also agreed to look for big projects to submit to the federal government for funding under a Title X program designed to relieve unemployment problems in the area.

So far, the City of Livermore has received some $1.5 million under the program and more funds are available.

Mostly, the ranchers hate all the new rules and regulations with which government is hemming them in.

But they're deciding, as one rancher put it: "If we can't stop it, let's get in there and at least have something to say about it."

Search slated for manager in Pleasanton

PLEASANTON — The city council officially accepted City Manager Bill Edgar's resignation last night and announced the process by which it will find a successor to Edgar.

It also appointed Assistant City Manager Alan Campbell as acting city manager during the search for a new city manager. The council also acted to boost Campbell's pay to the rate which Edgar has been paid.

Edgar announced his resignation last Saturday in favor of taking over the assistant city manager's job in Sacramento. It will mean a significant boost in pay and responsibility for Edgar.

The council, at Edgar's recommendation, will ask for bids from five management consultant firms and will meet next Tuesday to select one of them to aid the city in selecting Edgar's successor.

Although the meeting was a special session scheduled to determine how to proceed in looking for a new city manager, the council took time to hear an offer of student labor to help the city restore vandalized trees near Harvest Park School.

Jill Doherty, a seventh grader at Harvest Park, conveyed the students' offer to help the city replace nine or so trees vandalized last week after a Harvest Park dance.

Butcher shops

Slice of life that endures

DANVILLE — Meat that is a special chop off the old block at neighborhood butcher shops is what customers prefer instead of pre-cut, packaged selections, according to some patrons and meat cutters.

"There seems to be a trend of going back to the old-fashioned type of butcher shop," said Ben Singer, owner of Varsity Meat Market located in Flair Market in Danville.

One of the main reasons customers like this arrangement is they can get meat cut the way they like it by butchers they have learned to trust.

"When a customer gets to know a butcher, they often tell him their personal problems between ordering cuts of meat," said Singer. "We're almost like father confessors."

Besides getting personalized cuts and service, you get meat that usually tastes better, according to one patron.

"Sometimes prices may be a few cents higher, but you get more for your money," one lady said.

The meat tastes better since it is allowed to age from 10 days to two weeks before being placed in the meat counter, Singer explained. He said it is aged three weeks if it is to be frozen to fill a customer's order.

"We receive carcasses intact and do our own breaking (cutting up)," he

Groundhogs

Their day to whine

An entire nation will focus its cold - weary eyes on Puxiltawney (sp?), Penn., today for a glimpse of its possible savior, the only one who can stop the tremendous drain on natural gas, restore lost jobs, and get people out of their overcoats and underheated houses.

That, of course, would be the groundhog.

Today is Groundhog Day and for Easterners especially it means that if the groundhog pops out of its hole from hibernation and sees its shadow, there will be six months more of winter. That may be better than 12 more weeks of winter, that's not the good news. The good news is that there will be less than six more weeks of winter, a real thaw, if the groundhog does not see its shadow.

At the rate cold weather has been devouring the East and the nation's economy, President Carter may send someone to Puxiltawney (sp?) to put a blindfold on the cute little marmot just as it comes out of its burrow.

The track record of the groundhog as a weather predictor is just so - so, but never understimate the salubrious effects on the psyche of an Eastener. This is one Minnesotan who always felt good if the groundhog predicted an early spring. And if the prognostication was for a long winter, at least you knew and could resign yourself to it with fatalism.

Notice that the groundhog is the only animal with its own national day. It's true, there are dog days in August — every dog has its day — but no other animal, not even the conglomerate - inclined Mickey Mouse of Hollywood, Calif., has had a national day set aside in its honor.

It's time then, for the groundhog to make its move. For years this animal has lived in obscurity, despite the television cameras and newspapers duly recording the event annually.

It's time for a good public relations person for this nationally proclaimed, but little known animal. Look at the long list of groundhog accomplishments that could be insinuated into the media. A groundhog discovered America.

Yes, with the extra sharp senses our dumb little animal friends have beyond our own powers, groundhogs arrived here a full two years ahead of Columbus, burrowing under the Atlantic, instead of getting seasick like a dummy.

The groundhogs pitched right in, helping to build a better America. They aerated farm land, dug holes

Which school?

Livermore eighth graders found out this week whether they'll be going to Granada or Livermore High School next fall.

Now is the time for anyone who objects to ask for a transfer to the other school by sending a request in writing to the Pupil Services Office, High School Enrollment, Livermore Valley Unified School District, 685 Las Positas Blvd., Livermore 94550.

Priority will go to special education students and anyone requesting a special course not available at the other high school, such as agriculture (offered only at Livermore High).

Deadline for requests (which are supposed to come from parents) is 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 10. Action will take place in March.

Street change

The city of Livermore will be converting intersections on either side of the Livermore Avenue railroad underpass from four way stop signs to two way stop signs, starting tomorrow.

Motorists on Livermore Avenue will not be required to stop at Chestnut Street or Railroad Avenue. Motorists coming from Chestnut and Railroad will still face stop signs.

The change was made possible by addition of "Right turn only" lanes, the elimination of several crosswalks and the relocation of stop bars. Caution is urged until local motorists become familiar with the new traffic pattern.

Chamber ups ante

This year the Dublin Chamber of Commerce is proposing to increase the ante of their Maid of Dublin scholarship award from $500 to $750.

Chamber directors are seeking support from members. They are requesting that donations be submitted no later than April 20, 1977.

The object of the scholarship is to attract young ladies in the community who need funds to further their careers and schooling.

The chamber plans to make the scholarship award a continuing part of the Maid of Dublin Pageant.

This year the pageant will be May 6.

Hasseltine change

Eric Hasseltine, fifth district supervisor for Contra Costa County, has announced a one - time change regarding his liaison meeting regularly scheduled for the first Thursday of each month.

February's session will be held the 10th at the Danville Hotel Restaurant and Saloon.

The public is invited.

Gold

More than 700 senior citizens showed up in Livermore yesterday to pick up their gold cards — the passports for discounts at many local shops. While Fannie Britton, right, waited for her card, gold card originator Harry Henry, left, and Senior Center Director Lillian Snorf, center, beamed at the results. Similar programs are planned in the near future for Dublin and Pleasanton.

Roots of city heritage

PLEASANTON — An outpouring of "tree love" has pushed a unique community campaign past its goal, and left "seed money" for yet another target — the planting of trees along Main Street.

The surge of contributions since last Friday brought to 41 the number of tree purchases in just this last campaign.

That means financing is now assured for all 150 sycamores to be planted in the 1977 program. Also assured is a start on additional tree purchases, probably at the end of the year and to be directed toward "filling in some spaces along Main Street."

The "Trees for Pleasanton" campaign set out three years ago "to restore the image of giant roadside trees once evident throughout Pleasanton." Foothill, Hopyard, Bernal and Santa Rita roads were singled out by an ad hoc committee in a program that was to raise more than $5300 in voluntary contributions.

Recent contributions to Trees for Pleasanton have come from: Patricia Hall in memory of Daniel Ryan Smith; William MacKay in memory of Adabelle Dahle; from Mac, Joy and Tam McClellan in memory of Ted Deivert; from C.L., Jan, Patches and Sparky Johnson, and a second tree from C.L. and Jan Johnson Jr. in memory of L.H. Matson;

In memory of William C. Kest from his loving family; from Lori, Teresa and Stefanie Estes and from Giacomo and Genevieve Giordano in memory of Joe and Mary Giordano; from Mert and Gladys Murray in memory of Leslie Murray; from Linda, Jeffery, Nicole and Craig Perry in memory of Gary Perry; from the R. Ted Peterson family in memory of Elmer and Helen Peterson; Ruby Gilmore in memory of Bill Gilmore and Edith Marshall in memory of John Marshall;

From Wanda Taylor in memory of Lila Redden; the Robert Donaldson family two trees in memory of Robert R. Donaldson Sr. and Roy T. McDaniel; Jean E. Bias two trees in memory of Mabel Tyer Kesting and Hazel E. Bias;

Elizabeth A. Larsson and Albert and Dorothy Wiemken purchased trees in memory of Selina and Sam Keating, Emma and Adolph Banke, Nick Thomsen, Louis and Eric Larsson, Mary Larsson Briner, Arthur and Lester Bartholomew;

Other donations were from the Ray Bedford family, from Barbara and Stu Carter, from the May family, in memory of William Kest, in memory of Patsy K. Cannon, in memory of Grady Gooch, in memory of Floyd K. Evans family, and two trees in tribute to Alfred and Bertha Casterson, Bob and Shirley Casterson, and Dr. and Mrs. James Danielson;

The Frank C. Brandes Jr. family purchased one tree and the Del Prado Homeowners Association sent a check for seven trees, St. Augustine's Women's Club two trees and Jerry and Dot Dow one tree.

to trip horses ridden by redcoats in the American revolution, and excavated much of the underground railway (bet you didn't see that on "Roots").

Some folks think that Dutch immigrants dug the famous Holland tunnel in New York, but it was the unsung groundhog or sandhog as it is sometimes known.

Groundhogs have made big artistic contributions. Bob Zimmerhog wrote "Subterranean Homesick Blues." Allen Ginschuck started an entire movement of underground poetry.

In politics, Abbie Hofhog was active in the underground movement in the 1960's, and later switched to Animal Liberation and some strong work on behalf of his own minority group. (Ever seen a woodchuck in a visible job?)

Mickey Mouse may own Disneyland, today the groundhog is number one under and above the nation's turf.

Rotary Club fete

Country concert coming

LIVERMORE — A family day picnic on the green field of Livermore Valley Stadium Sunday, May 22, will be drenched in the sounds of Mel Tillis, "top country western entertainer of the year."

Tillis and his Statesiders Band will perform in a community benefit concert sponsored by the Livermore Rotary Club which hopes to raise $25-30,000 for completion of a three year lighting project for the stadium in Robertson Park.

Also starring with Tillis will be "Grammy" award winner Jody Miller and the "Western Union."

Gates are open at noon for picnicers who want to listen to several local country western entertainers who will perform until the 2 p.m. Tillis performance. Final selections have not been made.

General admission tickets priced at $6 go on sale today at The Squire shop, 1983 Second St., Livermore, and all BASS ticket outlets. A limited number of reserved seats are available for $7.50 each.

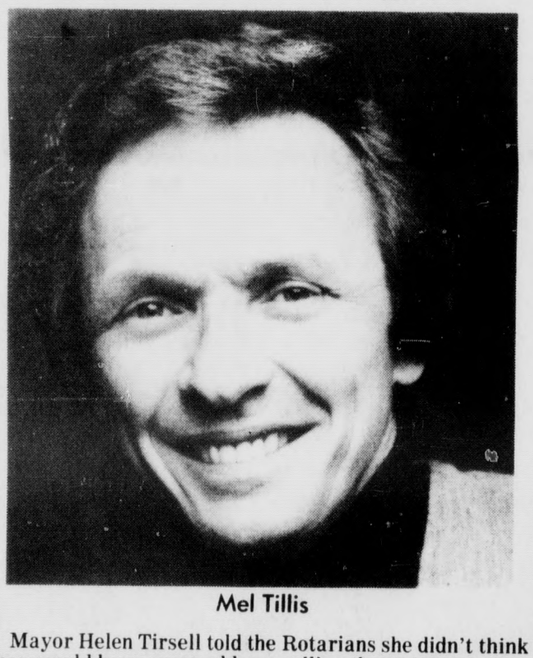
Dr. John Shirley, concert chairman, said he visualizes the Tillis concert as a "good precedent and trial for an ongoing concert year after year."

"We'll never pass park bonds here," he said, "so benefit concerts are the way to go."

Shirley said the Rotarians were fortunate to sign Tillis when they did. "He got his top award just after we signed him up for $15,000. If we did it today it would have cost double."

"Tillis appeals to a wide group," he added. "You don't have to like country and western music to like him."

Any non profit organization wishing to raise money for their own projects can earn 50 cents per ticket, if they sell more than 50 tickets, said Shirley, who called the Tillis concert the largest community fund raising effort of any valley service club.



Mel Tillis

Mayor Helen Tirsell told the Rotarians she didn't think they would have any problems selling the 12,000 tickets.

Tillis records on the MGM label consistently hit the top 10 of national music charts. His writings have been sung by dozens of names in the field, including Tom Jones and Dean Martin.

Area family sues banks head

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An $18 million antitrust suit was filed Tuesday against the state banking superintendent and eight major California banks because of a state-ordered takeover of the First State Bank of Northern California.

Plaintiffs are the former bank and principal shareholders Thomas, Lucia, Edward and Gerald Bevilacqua of Pleasanton and William H. Ahern. First State had two branches in San Leandro, one in Hayward and a fourth at the Oakland Army Depot.

Defendants are Carl Schmitt, state superintendent of banks; Lloyds Bank California, which took over First State's operation; Barclays Bank of California; Chartered Bank of London; Bank of America; Security Pacific Bank; Wells Fargo Bank; United California Bank and Crocker National Bank.

According to the suit, defendants conspired to restrain competition in commercial banking in California, monopolized banking in the state and acquired stock and assets of firms in violation of antitrust laws.

The suit says that in 1975 and 1976 a substantial effort was made to sell the assets to another bank, but before it could be achieved, Schmitt ordered the liquidation last May "without legal cause."

The suit alleges that on May 21, Lloyds, Barclays and Chartered conspired to insure a closed bid and that Lloyds bid of $2.01 million for $57 million in deposits was accepted by Schmitt.

County holds off on zoning

Alameda County Bureau

HAYWARD — Land owner Joseph Madden's petition to rezone his 7.7 acre site off Stanley Boulevard near Pleasanton to accommodate a public storage facility was continued this week to an April 18 hearing.

County planning commissioners granted the continuance on Madden's request.

Old fashioned butcher shops

said. "That gives us control over cuts and aging. Chain stores receive their meats already broken down and cut."

Meat wrapped in cellophane tends to turn sour more quickly, Singer pointed out.

"Unwrapped meat in a counter is allowed to breathe," he said. "It stays fresher longer."

If butcher shop meat is more expensive, it is due to the fact operational costs are usually five per cent higher.

"A butcher's time is worth $12 an hour," Singer said. "It costs from 18 to 20 cents a minute to talk to customers but it's worth it. We begin to feel as close to them as they do to us. We remember some of them as kids who grew up on our slices of bologna."

Jack Fiorio said he thought butcher shop meat prices were comparable to those in chain markets. Fiorio owns and operates the butcher shop/meat market in his grocery store in Pleasanton.

"Actually, we find our prices are lower on some cuts from time to time."

Fiorio said establishing good customer relationships and providing top quality service and meat were the advantages of operating a butcher shop.

"And we are periodically undergoing checks by county, state and federal health and meat inspection officials. There are very strict controls and we comply. If we don't, then we're out of business."

Walt Callahan, manager of the meat department at Cole's in Pleasanton, said, "We do fine here. We give customers personal service such as freeze wrapping and provide them with special cuts of meat they request. They are our friends."

Callahan said he didn't think a butcher shop type operation was any more expensive to run.

"Customers don't really pay any more for the extra service they get," he said. "They get a lot of quality and that helps balance out other factors."

San Ramon school

Pine Valley Intermediate School, now being constructed on Pine Valley Road in San Ramon, is scheduled to open in September with sixth and seventh grade students from the Neil Armstrong, Walt Disney, and Country Club areas. The school will be at its planned capacity — 850 students — when it opens. A principal is scheduled to be named within the next two months. Project cost for what will be the newest San Ramon Valley Unified school is $3,542,400. (Times photo)

Amador, Pleasanton critique

Report cites poor relations

(This is the last of three articles covering the University of California Field Service Center report on the business services division of the Amador and Pleasanton school districts.)

A prime focus of the report deals with the relations between the business office and the county schools office.

The three-man study committee concluded that relations "have not been as satisfactory as is desirable and as will be essential with the recommended provision of the business services package by the county office."

"We know," continues the report, "that there has been inadequate communication between these offices. As in almost any organization, there have probably been some omissions or failure to provide adequate information and some errors on the part of both parties."

The team, composed of Dr. Ted Reller of the University of California, Dr. Orrin Batchelor of the San Ramon school District, and William Haley of the Los Angeles County Schools business division, believe district representatives "may have taken too little advantage of meetings to secure information. The county office, attempting to meet the needs and varying demands of the various districts of the county, may not always have responded in a manner in which the local administration regarded as desirable. In some cases, however, the district administration may have been seeking hard data which were simply not available, such as assessed valuation at a given date."

The Amador and Pleasanton districts will utilize county services as of July 1 for data processing. This function has been accomplished by the Fremont Unified School District, which will also go onto the county machinery in 1977-78.

Reller and his team spent two full days at district offices talking with Doug Rose, assistant superintendent for business services, and other district staff. Rose had called for the analysis of the division last fall.

The trio found a shortage in policy development for business services, a need to better coordinate business and instructional services, improve program and speed of the business division, and redistribute some personnel duties.

Reller, in discussing the report with trustees of both the Amador and Pleasanton boards, said policies on purchasing "need immediate overhauling."

Batchelor felt a top priority was "getting onto the county system."

The report states in part on purchasing, "While there is a director of purchasing, some purchasing is done also directly and without adequate control by the purchasing department by buildings, grounds and transportation, and food services. Similarly, standards have not been developed sufficiently through working with curriculum and instructional personnel or coaches (for example), and consequently, even if bids are secured, there is a strong tendency to purchase on the basis of past practice. Enforcement of standards is too limited."

Members of the study team were generally "very well impressed with the work being done by Robert Renard, director of food services, in meal development and administration of the department."

The report adds, "While full implementation of SB 120 has not been completed, important steps have been taken in this direction."

At the same meeting, Rose presented a performance plan to trustees that details how recommendations of the report are being implemented.

Rose and Virginia Gorski, director of fiscal services, have expressed appreciation for the report and complete cooperation in implementing what the team deemed necessary.

School destruction

An estimated $10,000 in damages was caused by vandals at John Baldwin School and Charlotte Wood School in Danville over the past weekend. Shown here is destruction in one area of Baldwin school. Entry at school in San Ramon district was made via a broken window. Virtually everything in the school was turned over and supplies were ripped and tossed about. Paint had been splashed on walls, windows, chalkboards and carpets, a film projector dropped through a glass display case, planters turned over and windows broken. School maintenance personnel and volunteers helped clean up and secure the schools.

Psychology unit offering seminar, lecture series

OAKLAND — The Association for Humanistic Psychology has scheduled the following seminars and lectures that are open to the general public:

Liberating Our Voice — Carol Pendergrast, presently a voice trainer at the American Conservatory Theatre in San Francisco, will speak on the full use of the voice. She has taught at the Arena Stage in Washington, D.C., the National Theatre School of Canada, and has offered workshops at many universities. The seminar is scheduled Friday, Feb. 18 at 8 p.m. at Homestead Savings and Loan, 5757 Geary at 22nd, San Francisco. Donation is $2.

This event will be followed up by a workshop by Carol Pendergrast, Liberating Our Voice. Exercises will be given to free the self from tensions and inhibitions that limit the full use of the voice. Relaxation exercises that limit the full use of the voice and getting in touch with mental intentions that stimulate the fullest potential of our voices will be the focus. Drama and improvisational exercises will also be utilized. This event is scheduled Saturday, Feb. 26 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Autogenic Health Center, 6401 Broadway Terrace, Oakland.

Body Psychotherapy, to be conducted by John Boling, MSW, emphasizes bio-energetic and neo-reichian approaches, and is scheduled Wednesday, March 2 at 8 p.m., Homestead Savings and Loa, 5757 Geary at 22nd in San Francisco.

This event will be followed by a workshop led by Boling on Bio-energetic-/Body Experimental on Saturday, March 5 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Autogenic Health Center, 6401 Broadway Terrace, Oakland.

Persons wishing to make reservations for the workshop should call or write the Autogenic Health Center in Oakland, 547-3403.

New SRV librarian

PLEASANT HILL — Marilyn Millis has been appointed as Branch Librarian of San Ramon Valley Library, effective Feb. 1, 1977.

Millis joined the staff of the Contra Costa County Library Oct. 21, 1974. She was assigned as Children's Librarian at the Pittsburg branch and later to the San Ramon Valley library.

Before coming to Contra Costa County, Millis was children's and branch librarian at the San Diego Public Library.

She is a graduate of UC Berkeley and earned her Masters Degree in Library Science there.

VCSD seeking recreation aid

DUBLIN — The Valley Community Services District Recreation Department at Shannon Park Community Center is accepting applications for one Youth Coordinator and three Gymnastics Instructors.

The Youth Coordinator will be responsible to the recreation supervisor for organizing, planning and promoting the district's teen program. At least two years of teen related recreation experience and two years of college is desirable. (Some college recreation courses are preferable.)

The Gymnastics Instructors need ability to organize and implement beginning, intermediate and advanced gymnastics sessions. Applicants must have a minimum of three to five years gymnastics experience as well as the ability to instruct, demonstrate and spot participants.

The deadline for applying is Feb. 9, 1977.

For further information, please contact the VCSD Recreation Department at 828-7711.

Lions' speech contest set for Dublin Corral

DUBLIN — The Dublin-San Ramon Lions Club is sponsoring the annual Student Speakers Contest, to be held at the Dublin Corral at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 22.

The topic for the 1976-77 contest is "Government of the People, By the People — Fact or Fiction?"

Students wishing to participate should see principal Bob Hagler or Clifford Donley in the English department at Dublin High School.

For 39 years Lions Clubs of California-Nevada have sponsored this contest. Last year's winners received $11,300 in scholarships, plus many other prizes.

Amador educator appointed

Sandy Sandoval of the Amador Valley Joint High School District has been appointed by the State Department of Education to serve as chairman of a team to review vocational education programs and activities in the Novato Unified School District.

Sandoval will head a team of education experts in an in-depth look at how well the school district is providing vocational education for high school students and adults. A month-long self-study by the school district will be capped by the review team's visit.

Sandoval, as chairman, will organize team activities and will be in charge of developing a report of recommended actions to improve the district's vocaional education.

Sandoval is coordinator of vocational education for the Amador district.

Bargain

You can't beat the price of the inflation-beater pancake breakfast planned by the Jackson Avenue School PATIO, agrees A. J. Hamlin who is convinced by President Joyce Friesen of the Parents and Teachers in Organization. Just $1.50 for adults or $1.25 for children for all you can eat Saturday, Feb. 5 from 8:30 a.m. to noon at the East Avenue Achool in Livermore. Tickets purchased in advance at Jackson School are discounted. Proceeds will help purchase supplementary supplies for the children.

Livermore girl wins art trophy, cash

LIVERMORE — Five - year - old Giovana Shay of Livermore has won a $10 prize and a trophy in the first annual Michael Kern Awards at Children's Fairyland, Oakland.

The awards are given to child artists for depictions of the characters and sets at the Oakland city park.

They are in memory of the late child artist Michael Kern, and were handed out Sunday afternoon by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Kern.

Judges in the two - month competition were Morrie Turner, syndicated newspaper cartoonist, and Nancy Platford, a teacher at Claremont Junior High School, Oakland.

Twelve children took prizes. In the three to five - year - old category, Juliana Ford, 4, of San Francsico took a first place, Jana Langseth, 5, of Union City placed second and Giovanna took a third.

The Fairyland Art Gallery, established last year in memory of Michael, is in the fancifully designed Fairyland Post Office building. It's devoted to children's art, much of it created at the free Saturday afternoon classes conducted on the Humpty Dumpty Terrace by Fairyland's artist - in - residence, Marilynn O'Hare under sponsorship of the Oakland Art Association.

Children's Fairyland is on its winter schedule of operation, open weekends and school holidays only, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Grand Avenue and Park View Terrace entrance to Lakeside Park, on the shore of downtown Lake Merritt.

Drug talk tonight at California

SAN RAMON— A rap session on drug abuse sponsored by the California High School Parents Club is scheduled tonight at 7:30 in the school's Lil Ballou Memorial Theater.

Representatives of the San Ramon school district administration, Sheriff's department, students, parents and the Catholic Voice will be present for the rap session.

The Catholic Voice, in a recent issue, made allegations of considerable drug use at the school. The article evoked heated denials from school district trustees and parents.

Handling difficult children

PLEASANTON— How to deal with difficult children is the subject of a program scheduled Monday, Feb. 7 by the Valley Pupil Services Association at the Pleasanton School library.

The meeting will commence at 3:30 p.m.

Bob Bronzan and John Tompkins will provide a workshop on how to deal with difficult children. Bronzan is a vice-principal at Livermore High and Tompkins a counselor at Livermore. He also has a private practice in marriage and family counseling.

They will demonstrate their ideas with some Livermore High School peer counselors.

Parents' meeting

DUBLIN — The Parents Equal Rights and Responsibilities Organization) will host a Murray school board campaign kickoff coffee at the residence of Fran Phillips, 7068 Prince Dr., on Wednesday, Feb. 9.

The informational coffee will begin at 8 p.m. and is open to the public. Persons who plan to attend should call Mrs. Phillips at 829-1679.

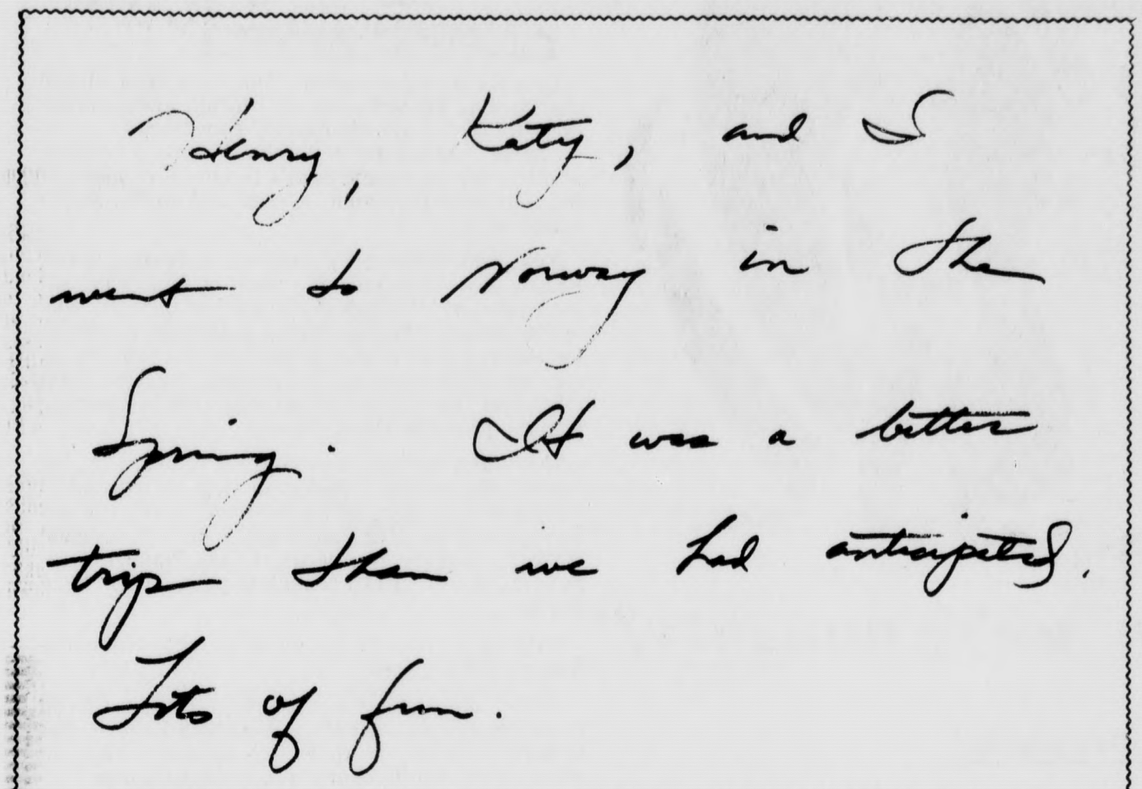
Graphology is the magic key to your quirks



About the author of this handwriting, Phyllis Wentworth deduced that she needs a lot of elbow room in which to operate, does not like people to get too close, loves to read, needs variety, puts up barriers to keep from being hurt, does things quickly, is bothered a great deal by personal criticism, bases decisions on fact, is emotional, ambitious, enthusiastic, sometimes impatient, instinctive, like physical activity and needs financial security. Friends of the person who wrote the passage, as well as the writer herself, agreed that Phyllis came very close to the truth in her analysis. Discover what your handwriting reveals at the upcoming Monte Carlo Nite.

By Lucy Hobgood-Brown

Are you reserved? Do you have an expressive nature? A keen mind? Find out all this and more about yourself by having your handwriting analyzed at Monte Carlo Nite Saturday, Feb. 5 at the Pleasanton Fairgrounds.

For $2, Phyllis Wentworth will open the door to your personality with the magic key — graphology. With 10 years of experience behind her, Phyllis will determine such traits as generosity and logic by analyzing in depth the sharpness and direction of strokes, how the letters are formed and how much pressure was used.

Operating out of the Cultural Arts Council's booth, the graphologist will use a science that goes back as early as 1000 BC, when Japanese scholars observed that a man's character could be judged by the size and fluency of the lines he drew. Today personnel managers consider a job applicant's handwriting more informative than a psychological test, according to Phyllis.

In analyzing handwriting, a graphologist not only checks and measures each letter individually, but must take into consideration that each letter suggests many different traits. "The letter T has 450 traits," says Phyllis, "which is more than any other letter in the alphabet."

The Arts Council will also sponsor an art auction on Saturday, chaired by Barbara Joan Smith, Warren Wade and Brad Hurst. Raffle tickets will be sold, with prizes including dinner for two at La Rochelle Restaurant and an original art work by Mel Friedman. The drawing will be held Feb. 17.

Monte Carlo Nite will be held at the exhibition hall from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Hoedown to remember

Pat Nielsen, Caller Paul Harris and Julie Harris rehearse a few rounds in preparation for the memorial hoedown to be hosted Friday, Feb. 4 by the Valley Travelers Square Dance Club in honor of the late Ray Walker, one of the club's founders. Square and round dances for intermediate level dancers are scheduled from 8 to 11:30 p.m. at the Sonoma Avenue School in Livermore for a donation of $3.50 per couple. Proceeds will be placed in the Ray Walker Memorial Fund at Valley Memorial Hospital.

Water quiz

The newsletter of the Alameda County 4-H Extension poses these questions to test our knowledge of basic water conservation:

How many gallons a day does the average person use?

A. About 148 gallons.

Do most people use more water outside or inside the house?

A. About the same, but outside use is heavier in summer.

How much water is wasted by a "small" drip?

A. Nearly 25 gallons a day or 9,000 gallons a year.

When does one equal three?

A. Every 8-ounce glass of water requires another 16 ounces to rinse and wash it. That's a total of three glassfuls of water for every glass served."

City manager

We will avoid that popular "reporter's analysis" of Bill Edgar's surprise resignation and conclude only that a young, promising administrator has chosen the right opportunity in furthering his career.

Reviewing the city manager's recent or alleged "failures" in trying to "explain" his departure from the community is unfair to the man and to the city he has served so very well over the last dozen years. Bill Edgar was never one to claim he had all the answers, never that high on himself that he could find no fault in his administration.

It was only because he had to lead a city on the move, for a populace that will always demand something more, that Mr. Edgar was shown at times to be less than perfect. But we look back on these dozen years — when Pleasanton zoomed from 8000 to a present - day count of some 33,000 residents — and conclude that here was a test worthy of the best of municipal leaders.

Bill Edgar leaves Pleasanton because of a very exciting invitation from one of the ten leading cities in California, and he leaves as he says "because the time is right."

Pleasanton should respect him for that, and honor him for the leadership he has provided, through his six years as city manager and another six as director of finance. ... a record that is as good as this community's advance through those same challenging, exciting years.

At least the City of Sacramento thinks so.

St. Augustine's

"We anticipate paying off the parish debt in 1977."

With that statement Father Edmond Cloutier offered simple tribute to a decade of accomplishment for his congregation, and for their pastor.

When St. Augustine's Catholic Church made the bold move to "the top of the hill" a decade ago, it was an undertaking fraught with challenge, not the least of which was a debt which at times approached the half million dollar mark. The very size of that edifice — able to seat 900 and often to handle crowds in excess of 1100 — was itself frightening.

Father Cloutier somehow prevailed, providing a church, a multi purpose school building and a residence for his small staff of priests. It is noteworthy that some of these facilities have been pressed into service on frequent occasion for large community gatherings which could be accommodated nowhere else and for use as a temporary public school that thereby avoided double sessions throughout the Pleasanton Elementary School District.

All of this would be meaningless to Father Cloutier if he had not also guided the 6672 practicing Catholics in this community to active participation in a score of programs embracing the religious, social and even athletic needs of his parishioners. It is, as the pastor noted on Sunday, "a record of participation eyed with envy by others throughout this diocese."

And it is also a record which the entire community salutes, for the building, the congregation and the pastor who have served Pleasanton well.

Letters to the Times

School board control

Editor, The Times:

The Board of Education controls the management of the schools, primarily, through its power to hire administrators, its power to write policy and regulations, its power to approve a budget, its power to negotiate contracts with recognized employee organizations.

Yet, in refusing LEA's request for Binding Arbitration, Board President Manuel Prado has stated that the board is "unwilling to relinquish local control of the management of the schools."

Since Binding Arbitration refers to a process whereby both employer and employee agree that disputes over alleged misinterpretation of the terms of the contract shall be settled by an outside, impartial, professional arbitrator the actual powers of the local School Board would be protected, not limited. The illogic of the Board's stance should force each of us to examine, carefully, the essence of Mr. Prado's statement.

Does it indicate to you that our Board members have no confidence in the ability of our superintendent and his disignees to perform in a manner that could withstand the scrutiny of an outside, impartial, professional arbitrator?

Does it suggest to you that this Board is afraid that the administrative "wiggle room" that they insist upon might be implimented in a capricious and arbitrary manner?

Does it tell you that the prime concern of the Board is to maintain a facade of sound management regardless of who may be hurt or destroyed? And does it explain to you why I believe that my contract must include Binding Arbitration?

Editor should apologize

Editor, The Times:

The writer of the editorial captioned "Strike Talk" that appeared in the Valley Times Friday, January 28, took the position of a sanctimonious bigot: he suggested that someone apologize to "all of Livermore" for a statement made passionately during a meeting, while he, the editor, aloof from the real situation, quoted it for thousands to read in his paper.

It is the editor who should apologize.

Campus violence

A series of unrelated events have been occurring at and to Valley schools in recent weeks, most of which bear some followup with the parties concerned.

We speak of a rash of fights early last month at Dublin High School, alleged consumption of alcohol by grade school students on or about the Harvest Park School grounds, destructive attacks on two San Ramon school district schools, and the insistence by a Bay Area parochial newspaper that a drug culture is flourishing at California High School.

The latter allegation will be dealt with at a rap sessio open to parents, faculty, administration and students at Cal High tonight. The session, which will include representatives from the Catholic Voice which has run a series of articles on alleged prevalence of drug use in the area, begins at 7:30 in the Lil Ballou Memorial Theater.

Another session, to deal with consumption of alcohol by eight Harvest Park students and damages to a school restroom and a neighboring park, was held Monday night at the school.

Discussion of the incidents, which happened prior to and during a school dance, brought forth a modern day phenomenon that under legal age kids use to obtain alcoholic beverages.

It's known as "spotting," in which the 13, 14 or 15-year old gathers with his or her buddies near a liquor store and approach sympathetic persons over 21 to ask them to buy a six-pack for them.

Principal Dale Hudson met with parents of those concerned Monday to discuss the problem and inform all of disciplinary actions to be taken.

The fights alluded to at Dublin High, reportedly five within nine days, may also be the result of another phenomenon — getting even with another kid for allegedly burglarizing or vandalizing the victim's place of residence.

The two schools in the San Ramon district, Charlotte Wood and Baldwin, were both hit hard over the weekend of the 29th-30th.

Earlier in the school year school age youngsters were responsible for the disastrous Neil Armstrong fire.

The parochial newspaper runs a series on a supposed "drug culture" in the valley. The writer of the series states, "Recent graduates of Pleasanton's Amador High School estimated that over 90 per cent of the school's student body drinks alcohol and over 60 per cent smoke marijuana."

We truly question these figures.

But since they've been put out to such a wide audience, they need explanation and study.

Are these acts of vandalism, illicit smoking and drinking symptomatic of growing pains or of a society that has changed its value structure?

Meetings such as tonight's at Cal High and the one Monday at Harvest Park could provide some answers.

It's long past time we got these problems on the table for discussion by the parties involved — the parent, administration, faculty and students.

Magic thinking

I had 100 bright yellow party invitations printed up.

They sat tidily on my desk for a week, topped by books of 13 - cent stamps.

It got to the point that I would avoid walking past my desk so as not to be reminded that I'd better send them out soon. Finally I figured out my problem, and confided in the most sensible lady I know.

"Judy," I sighed. "I know the minute people start getting these invitations, my party will be jinxed."

Judy Matheson, sympathetic friend and counselor par excellence, laughed merrily.

Easy for her. SHE wasn't the hostess.

"What do you mean?"

"Something will happen. I won't be able to have this gigantic party and all those people will show up."

"Like what could happen?"

That was easy. "I'll get the flu. They'll sell our house and we'll have to move. Somebody will die. The toilet will stop up."

"Ah - HAH. Magic Thinking."

Judy was very understanding as she demolished a whole way of life for me.

"Magic Thinking," she explained, "is when you believe you have some kind of control over things, just by thinking about them, that are really outside of your control.

"Children do it all the time."

She added kindly, "I do Magic Thinking too. Sometimes I think that if I want something too much, I won't get it because I want it so badly.

"Then I stop and say: There you go, Judy, thinking you're magic again!"

It was shattering. It's taken me 31 years to figure out where to spot the first star after the sun goes down. And now Judy's telling me that is NOT the way to find boyfriends.

I moved 2,700 miles from New Jersey to a place where they have hay trucks lumbering by all day long. Does she mean to say making a wish on a load of hay won't get me good weather for our camping trip?

"Of course," Judy pointed out, "it works both ways."

Can it be that even when the fog rolls in over the stars, I can still have fun on a date?

And I suppose wearing those opal earrings I inherited from my granny really has nothing to do with that parking ticket ... and whether or not I pay attention to the sounds of the motor, the airplane I'm in will probably get there...

But how can I break it to my kids that it doesn't matter who gets the wishbone from the chicken?

After grappling with these disturbing concepts for weeks, I called Judy back to tell her I thought I had Magic Thinking licked.

But she had just walked in the door from her first day at a new job and wanted to tell me all about it.

"I think," she said, "they offered it to me because I wore my Lucky Dress to the interview.

"By the way. All set for your party Saturday?" — by Pat Kennedy

Earl G. Waters

Sacto math

"Although," said Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, "Governor Jerry Brown poses as a fiscal conservative, his budget and legislative record during two years in office prove otherwise." A Republican from LaCanada commencing his 27th year in the Legislature, Lanterman speaks from a position of authority. Long a member of the Way and Means Committee he served as its chairman during the palmy days when Republicans held a majority in the Assembly, and continues to serve as vice chairman.

Pointing out that Brown's budget as submitted to the Legislature marks a 46 per cent increase in spending during his two years despite his "era of limits" and pledges of "no new taxes," Lanterman said the governor "has shown little actual ability to limit growth. I feel that the governor is awed and perplexed by the complexity of state bureaucracy."

Actually Lanterman has understated the case. When Brown took office in 1975 the state was operating on a $10 billion budget. And, although the budget he presented to the Legislature this month was pegged at $14.3 billion his additional proposals for school financing, property tax relief and new prisons would up that to $15.2 billion, a 52 per cent increase over state spending at the time he became governor.

There are those who believe the increase will even be greater. They cite the dissatisfaction expressed by legislative leaders over Brown's solution for school financing and property tax relief. Even Brown concedes his school aid proposal will not fully meet the terms of the Serrano decision but said it would provide "substantial compliance." It is obvious that at least one aspect of the governor's school plan was distasteful to Speaker Leo McCarthy who, until now, has been the governor's most loyal supporter. Brown's "Robin Hood" approach to school aid, which would take money from wealthy districts and give to the poor one's, would hit McCarthy right where he lives in San Francisco which would surely be "robbed" under the governor's scheme.

And both Assemblymen Dan Boatwright, chairman of Ways and Means, and Willie Brown, chairman of Revenue and Taxation, were prompt to denounce the governor's property tax relief program as insufficient. If these leaders have their way total appropriations for the 1977-78 fiscal year will most likely top $16 billion.

Since, from the day he took office, Brown has repeatedly pledged no new taxes and no tax increases one may wonder how such increased spending is possible. First of all it developed that this pledge wasn't what it seemed. He said he meant "no new general taxes" as he approved measures upping unemployment insurance taxes on employers, imposing sales taxes on gasoline, and "closing loopholes" on bank and corporation taxes for a total of near $1 billion.

Those new revenues, along with increased takes in sales and personal income taxes due to inflation, will produce an estimated $940 million by July 1. Lanterman said he thinks it will be closer to $1.5 billion. He said he is disturbed by the prospects of such a staggering surplus. "I think we must carefully examine this amount of excess revenue and determine what segment of the population paid these monies."

He will find that one significant source has been a "general tax increase" on personal income of $640 million which has occurred because Brown has failed to stop it. This phenomena results from the inflexible tax schedules which penalize workers when they receive cost of living pay adjustments. Although their purchasing power is not increased, and in some cases has actually diminished despite raises, many suddenly become income taxpayers while many more are thrown into higher brackets with higher tax rates being applied. Canada and several European countries have adopted the system known as "indexing" to adjust taxation to living cost increases thereby wiping out unintended tax increases resulting from inflation.

round the town

Does the ice age cometh? Those who have shared the freezing climes such as Florida and Georgia this past winter are thoroughly convinced.

"Colder here than in Alaska," wrote a nephew who has served Uncle Sam's forces in all parts of the continent. But none so cool as Florida, in the winter of '77.

Even our beloved president is feeling Jack Frost's bite. "I'm wearing my long underwear all the time now," President Jim advises the cold folks in Pittsburgh. They're frozen to their boot straps. President Jim figures it is wise to talk about lowering the White House thermostat, wearing long johns and that sort of thing, when one is chatting with the voters in Pennsylvania.

The White House at 65 degrees is tough on the lady of the house. "Rosalynn finds it difficult," President Jim says of his beloved. That's the understatement of the campaign. I have it on good authority that the southern gal from Plains is frozen to the bone ... mad enough to pack up and head south.

Only it's not much warmer in Georgia. Not in the Year of The Ice Age.

Strikes me what is needed is "A Guide to Keep From Freezing to Death." Written for those who hitherto have never known ice outside a highball glass, never touched anything colder than an ex - lover's lips.

If the Arctic ice cap is bound and determined to shift its frozen mass south across the 49th parallel, then we Americans might as well be prepared. And I don't mean we should invite President Jim to tour the land, trying to talk us out of the fact that half the blessed country is frozen stiff.

Now is the winter of our discontent.

Made glorious summer by this sun of York.

I doubt if even Reborn Jim has the heavenly contacts to turn the winter of '77 into glorious summer. (King Richard III didn't either, as it turned out. But that's another fable.)

Not wishing to upstage our chief of chiefs, I make bold to suggest that my own experience in frigid climes provides me with certain expertise in such matters as "how to stay alive although frozen to death." It is an accomplishment learned only through a mis - spent youth on the Canadian outback.

First, and foremost, it is important that you dress warmly. This is an item of some personal choice, although my own recollections run thusly ... One pair cotton undershorts; one pair long, wooly underwear, handed down from older brother and folded back accordingly;

Woolen knickers, tucked inside socks knitted by mother with No. 4 unbleached wool; (since the socks itch like blazes, also recommend first applying one pair silk stockings, stolen from big sister's dresser.)

The chest is covered with layers of garment as may be available and not otherwise claimed by older brothers. My own preference was for a light shirt, hole in back, followed by another shirt, large hole in front ... thus did one hole offset the other. Two sweaters — one of the No. 4 unbleached wool variety — are then applied, topped off with rough woolen jacket with large collar flaps and a belt which, once securely buckled, can only be released by an all - patient mother.

(An important warning at this point: GO TO THE BATHROOM BEFORE YOU APPLY ALL THIS CLOTHING. As a young Canadian of the male species, I encountered many a disaster in attempting to even find the blessed thing under all those layers! And never in time. There is no experience quite like moist underwear, exposed to 40 degrees below freezing.)

The head is best covered with a flyer's cap of the Charles Lindbergh style. The long flaps can be securely fastened under chin, thereby shutting out all cold, sound, and feeling. (Note: Chin strap may also, on occasion, shut off your breathing process. In such instances it is suggested you remain calm, and stop breathing, until help can arrive.)

Doing for yourself in any emergency is made quite impossible by the layers of clothing that cover your hands. On that point, the recommended hand covers include woolen mittens of the "two finger" style, securely attached to a long string which is then passed up the sleeve, over the shoulders and back down the other sleeve.

Heavy over - mitts are worn on the outside, also securely attached to a second cord that goes up, around and down again. The reason for all this is, of course, to avoid losing any one of the mittens ... a winter's - day disaster that is second only to the experience gained when some smart kid grabs one of your mittened - hands and pulls like crazy, thereby choking you with the aforesaid cord.

Which leads to my final bit of advice: Whenever possible, avoid winter.

Berry's World

"The older I get, the better the seniority system seems to work!"

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have always heard ulcers come in the spring and fall but believe this to be an "old wives' tale" as they say. My husband, who has retired, has had one several times a year for the past few years. He had one last March and is now again suffering with one. I have him on milk and cream which is what his doctor suggests. He has gout and is taking one Benemid daily. I'm wondering whether there could be anything in that medication to affect the stomach and perhaps cause an ulcer to return so soon after being cured. He was X-rayed last April and was completely cured. Would you advise a diet at all times after one is cured to prevent future attacks?

DEAR READER — Some "old wives' tales" turn out to be true and this is one of them. Peptic ulcers of the duodenum — the common type — are more likely to occur in the spring and late fall. No one knows why but it is true of the North American population.

Peptic ulcers were relatively uncommon before 1900. What few ulcers did occur were usually of the stomach and not the duodenum. All of this suggests that our current lifestyle has a lot to do with the incidence of ulcers. To give you more information on this and what your husband can do about it I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-5, Ulcers — Duodenal, Stomach. Others who want this information can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The most important thing your husband can do is to quit smoking if he smokes, avoid all forms of alcohol and not use any drinks that contain any caffeine. This includes coffee, tea, colas and chocolate drinks. I think with the severity of his problem he should also avoid the decaffeinated brands of coffee, since the flavor oils and other ingredients are irritating to some people.

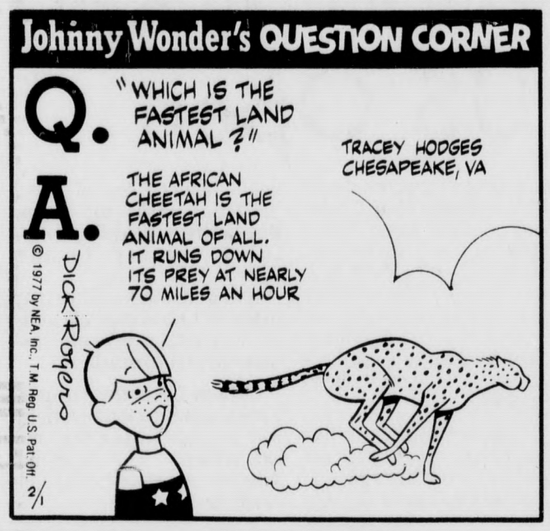
The Benemid may irritate the stomach. It does so even in people without ulcers if the dosage is on the high side. You might talk with your doctor about putting him on Zyloprim (allopurinol). The difference is that Benemid helps the kidneys wash out excess uric acid from the body and allopurinol prevents it from being formed by the body cells — the main source of the uric acid. Zyloprim is not known to irritate the digestive system.

The milk and cream diet has been used for years but many doctors now question its value. I am concerned about the cream because your husband has gout. One of the major complications of gout is coronary artery disease.

I usually recommend that patients with gout stay on a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet to help prevent artery disease. Of course, a doctor is often faced with the lesser of evils in deciding what to do to help a patient. If your husband permits I would prefer to see him on a high protein diet, using fortified skim milk and antacids. Medicines to block the vagus nerve stimulation of acid digestive juice might also be used.

Avoiding excess stress, which sometimes means changing jobs or correcting home situations, entirely eliminating cigarettes, coffee, tea, colas and alcohol permanently and eating a sensible diet is a way of life for anyone who has or has had an ulcer or acid indigestion if they wish to avoid symptoms.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER



Q. "WHICH IS THE FASTEST LAND ANIMAL?"
A. THE AFRICAN CHEETAH IS THE FASTEST LAND ANIMAL OF ALL. IT RUNS DOWN ITS PREY AT NEARLY 70 MILES AN HOUR
TRACEY HODGES CHESAPEAKE, VA
DICK ROGERS
© 1977 by NEA, Inc. TM Reg U.S. Pat. Off. 2/1

The fastest land animal is the cheetah. Racing at its top speed of nearly 70 miles an hour, it can outrun any earthbound creature.

The cheetah is a large, leopardlike cat that lives on the open plains of Africa. You can easily tell a cheetah by its long legs and long, slender body. Black "tear lines," running from the corner of the eyes, give the cheetah a sad expression.

It has blunt claws which cannot be drawn far back into the paw like the sharp claws of other cats. Its blunt claws help give it the additional grip needed for sudden stops and turns.

When hunting, the cheetah creeps toward its prey and then runs it down in a final rapid spring.

Its great speed lasts only for a short distance, however. After a short burst at top speed the cheetah simply lies down, exhausted.

With enough running distance between them, an antelope can easily escape the short-winded cheetah.

How many high-card points do you need for your hand to qualify as a forcing two bid?

The general answer is 18, although you may shade it to 17 or 16. With less, just bid one. The bid won't be passed out.

Today's hand represents real tough luck for North and South, but the fault lies entirely with the South player. He did hold two aces and he did have nine playing tricks in his hand. At least he had nine playing tricks, unless an opponent showed up with four hearts to the jack. Anyway, he opened two hearts.

North almost fell off his chair. Here he was with a sound opening bid of his own and a partner who had opened with a two bid. He just bid two spades to start with, but when South's next call was a jump to four hearts North just had to bid Blackwood. South responded with five hearts to show just two aces. All North could do was to gulp out a pass.

It was bad luck that South went down at five. West opened the ace of clubs and shifted to a diamond, but those things happen to players who get into that never-never land between game and slam.

Ask the Jacobys

A Tennessee reader wants to know why the forcing two bid is called the Culbertson two bid if he didn't invent it.

The answer is that his first blue book included the forcing two bid at a time when other writers were using different forcing bids. Incidentally, his original two-bid rules are just about what should be followed today.

Run, run shoot, shoot

Charlie Litz

February 6 is the date of the first competition running - deer shoot at the Livermore - Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club. So bring your shooting buddies, plenty of ammo, your rifle, favorite handgun, and yourself.

There will be running deer, iron chickens, gong, benches to sight in on, and pistol shooting, too.

Reserve the dates of February 20 and 21, also, for the next PITA shoot. It will cover lots of different events, with prizes for top shooters. This is always an interesting two - day competition.

The LLLRA Sturgeon and Striped Bass Fishing Derby was a real humdinger last weekend. Although the weather was not ideal and waves up to a couple of feet were a problem at times, everyone enjoyed the derby and some nice fish were brought in.

Judy Hicks topped the competition with her prize - winning sturgeon, a whopper of 76 lbs. Next was Clyde Combs with a 74 - pounder; and third prize went to Tom Knorr and his 64 - pounder.

Larry Butterfield was fourth with 52 lbs. Judy, Clyde and Tom caught their fish in the Suisun Cut, using grass shrimp. Larry got his in Middle Ground, also using grass shrimp.

Sonny Hicks and Paul Knorr were next with 46 - pounders. Don Hosan had a 42 pound sturgeon; and David Brierly, 40 lbs. Roy Mullins' fish weighed in at 28 lbs; Dennis Koci, Jack Brierly, Dave Freeman, Dave Van Arkel, and James Swingle had 26 - pounders.

Cleve Gunderson and Irene Ryan each got 22 - pounders; Bob Acardo, 21 lbs.; W.J. Henderson, 18 lbs.; H.L. Collis, 18 lbs.; and Gus Grogan, 14 lbs.; and Al Ryan, 12 lbs.

The above were all sturgeon, and all were enviable catches.

Philip Weidemann was top striper winner with a 12 lb. catch; and Don Hogan was next with a 10 - pounder.

R.C. Heinitz caught an unusual halibut, about 12 inches long, which he described as blue - green on top, white on bottom side, and with brown polka dots overall!

LLLRA members said they were extremely pleased with the Martinez Bait Shop for their live grass shrimp, and for handling the Derby log book.

Howard A. Sunberg says there was a little surprise when he hooked a large ray while fishing for perch about two miles north of the Berkeley Pier. He said it felt like he'd hooked onto the bottom; but he was doing all right until the ray sighted the boat. Then it took off, unwound the line off the reel, and finally the line parted — it was a 20 - pound line, too!

Tina Kidalgo and cousin Sheri Hepperle made their first fishing trip, along with their fathers, Walt Hidalgo and Roger Hepperle at the Camanche Reservoir.

The two girls caught a total of 20 blue gills which ran ½ and ¾ lbs. each. Their bait was worms and grubs, which certainly was successful for them and they'll be trying to repeat their good luck again soon.

In 1972, Lee Jurras, then president of Super Vel, decided that an effective way to promote handgunning as a sport would be to honor an outstanding American handgunner.

All of Super Vel's advertising and promotion money for that year went into the program, which included commissioning a noted sculptor to cast a limited number of truly beautiful bronze statuettes as the principal award, and to sponsor a banquet, attended by much of the industry, to present the award.

This year the person honored by the Handgunner Award will be chosen by the shooting public by direct vote. That insures fairness and takes a great load off the selection committee.

The candidates are Joe Benner, Bill Blankenship, Harlon Carter, Warren Center, Steve Herrett, Sen. James A. McClure, George Nonte, Skeeter Skelton, John Wayne, and Dan Wesson.

If you wish to support the Outstanding Handgunner program, and vote for one of these men, send $1 per vote to the Outstanding American Handgunner Awards Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 846, Roswell, N.M. 88201. The contribution will be used to defray the considerable costs of the program.

Dons move up to penthouse

By Brian Martin

Looming like giants over the smaller Livermore soccer team, Amador Valley finally edged its way into the top spot of the East Bay Athletic League standings with a tidy 2-1 win over the small, but rugged 'Pokes yesterday in Pleasanton.

A win for Livermore would have given the Cowboys a considerable edge for the crown, but the loss nearly kills the 'Pokes now. Amador, as a result of the win, leads the 'Pokes by one point in the standings with a 9-2-1 record, appeared headed toward a final showdown with rival Granada next Tuesday in a make-up game on the Mats' field.

But Don coach Mike Geib, relishing the victory in the locker room afterwards, had Granada far from his mind. "It does not put us in," emphasized Geib. "California High (the Dons' final regular-season opponent) has come on stronger now than at anytime before in this league. When you can hold Livermore to one goal you're playing good. We're not overlooking them."

And holding Livermore toone goal is just what the Dons did in grabbing their biggest win of the season to date. The goals Amadorscored to pull the trick were rare but not "freak" goals.

Greg Oxsen lofted a penalty kick too close to the net late in the second half as the teams were in the midst of a 1-1 tie. But the near-miss was just as good for the Dons, who usually send a striker in to head the corner kick past the goalie.

The ball curved perfectly over the heads of the front-liners and eluded befuddled Livermore goalie Rick Wood in catching the far right corner of the net for the winning goal. The play came just 10 minutes from the end.

Earlier in the half, Oxsen had assisted Pat Cohan on a slap goal right in front of the net for the game's first goal. Livermore's Billy Hunt, called for "deliberate kicking" on the play, was red-carded out of the ballgame. The call hurt 'Poke coach Dennis Rashe.

"I was going with one haflback after that," the coach explained, "It hurts in the middle of the field." Indeed, the Cowboys had trouble gaining control of the midfield after the incident. After playing the Dons even for one half, Amador roared back to outshoot the 'Pokes 8-3 in the second half.

"But we came back after that," reminded Rashe. Livermore put together a furious chare in the AV net area midway through the half when Cary Dean centered a pass to forward Wes Settle in the middle. Setlle, in turn, dished the ball off to Charlie Bockover out in the wings and the stocky senior Rifled the ball over AV goalie John Castillo's head for the tieing goal. Seven minutes later, the Dons went ahead.

"You don't see too many corner kicks go in," Rashe added, "Oxsen's an excellent player."

Geib noted the play of Steve Wilcox, who replaced injured Len Baine, in the fullback position as a key to the win. Both Wilcox and Steve Inglebrick were booting balls over half the length of the field in thwarting Cowboy charges.

"The pressure was on Steve Wilcox today," Geib said, "and the halfbacks did a super job. The front-line men (Cohan, Joe Correia, Steve Blalock and Kevin Crow) made a lot of good moves. Joe's a threat from anywhere on the field"

Livermore's final game of the season against Monte Vista Friday is a must-win situation for the 'Pokes, who ride a slightly-battered wing and a prayer for another chance at the title.

Amador's Pat Cohan jams the ball into Rick Wood's gut.

An upsetting goose egg: Mustangs, 3-0

Alex LaBeaux will take it. Particularly when the opposing team provides the scoring for his Mustangs.

"They're (Foothill) a tremendous ball club but they didn't move. They still looked tired," LaBeaux explained after Monte Vista blanked Foothill, 3-0, here yesterday afternoon.

Ironically, two of MV's scores came by way of Foothill, which was in second place in East Bay Athletic league play prior to Tuesday's get together.

"When you're up by two goals that's enough to take any initiative away," said LaBeaux, referring to the unexpected gift by Foothill, now 8-5-0 and virtually out of the league race.

Monte Vista, on the other hand, moved to 5-8 with the win. And LaBeaux was expecially pleased about it.

"This was the first time that the team was talking together," he said, alluding to the combined senior - sophomore lineup.

"One day they look like world beaters and next they're up and down. The seniors kept their cool today," he said.

Three of those upperclassmen who provided much of the defense were Rick Bessin, Tom Watson and John Hicks. The three fullbacks, along with senior goalie Jeff Boles, contained the potent Falcons throughout most of the game.

Although tallying 12 shots on goal, it was Monte Vista's defense, (which LaBeaux says has made the difference this season) that rejected, deflected and stymied the Falcons.

"Those guys (Watson, Hicks and Bessin) really hold the defense up," observed LaBeaux. "We don't score too many goals and we've had a problem with our forwards."

The Mustangs' only official goal, their third, came moments after Foothill's last booboo.

Dave Mays dribbled the left sidelines and sent a howling 25-yard shot to the opposite corner of goal tender Dave Konecny.

Monte Vista, which has problems of late establishing — and maintaining — a lead in a match, opened the scoring 10 minutes into the game. The hosts successfully held the advantage for the remainder of the half. The second half, too.

Foothill's Larry Lorenz and Steve Kent, in their understandable rush to clear the ball out of the Falcons' goalie box, instead combined to shoot the ball off the foot of the Mustangs' Dave Erdy and, ultimately, into goal.

The Mustangs, with help, of course, from the Falcons, increased their advantage to 2-0, nine minutes into the remaining half.

Pressured by MV's Basim Mogannam, Dave Albert, attempting to clear the ball, centered to Cliff Woodward, who, attempting to clear it, shot it past Konecny into goal.

The Mustangs, who travel to Amador Valley Friday, penetrated much better in this one. Particularly in the second half, usually regarded as the half in which soccer games are decided.

MV, despite shooting only six shots on goal, played even with the Falcons and rendered a most impressive job on defense.

Castlewood picked for US Open

By Gary Brown

Castlewood Country Club will host one of two Northern California regional qualifying tournaments for the U.S. Open Golf Championships May 23.

The tournament, believed to be the first U.S. Open qualifying tourney ever held in the valley, is open to any professional golfer and those amateurs who have a two-handicap or better.

"I know it's the first time a qualifying tourney for the Open has ever been held at Castlewood," said Ty Caplin, Castlewood's club pro, yesterday. "It's probably the first in this area."

The other Northern California regional qualifying tournament will be held at Almaden Country Club in South San Jose on the same date.

In preparation for the tournament, Castlewood is undergoing some course remodeling.

"We're putting some bunkers on the seventh, 12thand 18th holes," Caplin explained. "We also making the seventh and 18th holes longer. As of now, they're a little bit short. But we're not doing anything drastic to the course."

According to Caplin, there will be about 100 golfers competing at both Castlewood and Almaden.

Golfers from the Oregon border south to Bakersfield will be eligible for the two tournaments. The deadline date for entries to be turned in will be April 17.

Golfers can pick which course they to compete on. If an overwelming number prefer one course other the other, then some of the competitors will have to play at the course which has the least applicants.

From these two tournaments about 20 golfers will advance to the sectional qualifying event at Saticoy Country Club in Ventura June 7. From there the top seven or eight golfers will advance to the U.S. Open finals June 16-19 at outh Hill Country Club in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

A first: Cal tops Dublin

By Gary Brown

It took awhile but California High School's soccer team finally gained a win over Dublin with a 3-2 decision of the Gaels on the winners' field yesterday in an East Bay Athletic League match.

The Grizzlies had never beaten Dublin in either junior varsity or varsity play in four years of competition.

However, they made up for it with an excellent offensive display in the second half yesterday.

The first half ended in a scoreless tie but California came out in the second half and immediately went to work. The Grizzlies fired nine shots on goal and had some excellent defensive work to stop one of the EBAL's better offensive units.

Dave Peck broke the ice for California with a seven-yard goal just two minutes into the period. He took a feed from Jim Callaghan and fired it in from the corner.

Two minute later the Gaels came back when Jorge Garrett belted a 10-yarder off an assist from Kevin Dick.

The Grizzlies took the lead for good six minutes later when Bruce Morgan took a feed from Chris Osheroff directly in front of the Gael net and fired it in. From then on the Grizzlies dominated play.

California added its final goal when Morgan took a beautiful feed from Greg Clarke as he crossed in front of the net and belted it in from eight yards out. Clarke dribbled the ball through two Gael defenders before feeding the ball to Morgan.

With four minutes left in the contest Dublin put itself back into contention with a

Dons remain atop AP poll

SAN FRANCISCO — Bob Gaillard, coach of college basketball's top-ranked team, admitted Tuesday that his University of San Francisco Dons have heard the loud footsteps of second-ranked UCLA.

"It looks like UCLA has arrived, and this is a nice time of the season to arrive," Gaillard said of Gene Bartow's Pacific-8 team. He added, "Marques Johnson is probably the best college player in the country."

The Bruins, 16-2, jumped from No. 8 in the national rankings a week ago to the runnerup spot by knocking off Southern California and No. 11 Tennessee during a week in which several other Top Ten teams lost. Unbeaten USF, by Gaillard's admission, "survived" two tough games with West Coast Athletic Conference rival Santa Clara.

San Francisco, 21-0, and UCLA, along with fourth - ranked Nevada - Las Vegas could make up three-fourths of the field in the NCAA Tournament's Western Regional at Provo, Utah, March 17 and 19.

"But the winner of the regional won't necessarily be the favorite to win the national championship. When you get down to the final four teams, they're too close," Gaillard said at Tuesday's Northern California basketball coaches' meeting.

"The team that wins the championship will probably have to win a few games along the way like we did Saturday night, with last-second shots," he concluded.

The Dons, who trailed by 16 points early in the second half at Santa Clara, pulled out a 71-70 win Saturday night on guard Chubby Cox' field goal with two seconds remaining.

USF plays at home Friday night against St. Mary's, 1-4 in the WCAC, and on Saturday night against a Nevada-Reno team which has lost only once in the conference. Nevada's 6-10 center, Edgar Jones, the WCAC's leading scorer and rebounder, is described as "frightening" by Gaillard who will counter with 6-11 Bill Cartwright.

Once again: SR shut out

Once again generating little to no offense, the San Ramon Wolves were once again blanked this time by Granada, as the Mats rolled to a convincing 4-0 victory over the hapless Lobos, yesterday at SR's home turf.

Granada totally shut down the Wolves on offense, allowing a miniscule two shots to be fired at goalie Ron King.

Meanwhile, the Mats' offense racked up 35 shots and four goals, the greater portion coming on a hat trick by Shannon Estill, the EBAL's leader in scoring.

Although the final score reads 4-0, this score is misleading, as Granada saw four of its shots hit the wooden uprights and crossbar, while other attempts at an open goal were missed.

Offsides also plagued the Mats, particularly in the first half, when they were called for the infraction seven times, many of these thwarting scoring opportunities.

The game's scoring began early in the first half when the Matadors' Kevin Burke booted a goal from 15 yards out on the left side angle.

At this point the game was progressing slowly, and dominance was not yet evident on the part of either team.

However, Granada, led by Estill, started to take command midway through the opening half.

Minutes after Burke had produced the game's initial tally, Estill followed with his first marker of the day,

Three-way tie for girls lead

The girls are apparently taking tips from the boys.

For the second time this week, a Livermore High School basketball team withstood a furious Amador Valley rally in the closing minutes to knock off the previously unbeaten Dons.

Last night in Pleasanton, the girls had their turn in posting a 40-35 win over the Dons to finish the first half of the season tied with Amador and Monte Vista for the East Bay Athletic League lead with records of 6-1.

In other action, Granada won a 46-44 overtime contest with San Ramon; California knocked off publin, 48-43 and Monte Vista beat Foothill, 53-37.

Lee Hardeman scored 18 points to lead the narrow 'Poke win, while AV's Jayne Kuhns led all scorers with 19 points.

Granada's Bittye Vieraa controlled the overtime and Thus the game for the Matadors. Making all of her four foul shots and canning a basket, Vierra tallied all six of the Mats' OT points.

After San Ramon had cut the margin to two points, Vierra dribbled out the clock to insure the Granada victory.xg Lynn Bousliman was the statistical queen for Granada, scoring 20 points and hauling in 16 rebounds. Kathy Honour, meanwhile, collared more than a dozen steals.

The Wolves Nancy Kerlinger had hit a jumper from the top of the key to tie the game with :02 showing in the fourth quarter.

In San Ramon, the California Grizzlies got some scoring from some unexpected places and coasted to a 48-43 win. The game was not that close, however, as Cal once led by as many as 17 points.

The anticipated battle between P.J. Moore of Cal and Dublin's Joanne Callender was pretty much a stand-off, but Patricia Dulick and Sandy Grigg combined for 27 points to give the Grizzlies their third win of the season.

Moore and Callender led the game with 19 points each.

Carol Dolsby and Linda Silva, who can do everything but stuff the baske-TbB basketball, combined for 42 points as Monte Vista buried Foothill, 53-37.

Dolsby, who led all scorers with 28 points, was absolutely devastating. Silva, on the other hand, contributed with 14 points and numerous steals.

Knicks nick GS after OT

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Earl Monroe's baseline jumper with three seconds left in overtime gave the New York Knicks a 108-107 National Basketball Association victory over the Golden State Warriors last night.

Clifford Ray had given the Warriors a 107-106 lead with 1:10 to play in the overtime by sinking one of two free throws. But Monroe, who had sent the game into overtime with two free throws, came up with the winning basket on a 12-footer.

The Knicks worked the ball around to Bob McAdoo on the outside but McAdoo saw Monroe free in the left corner. Monroe took the pass, dribbled once to the base line and put up his winning shot over the outstretched hand of Rick Barry.

Barry had one last chance to win it for the Warriors, but his 25-footer bounced off the rim at the buzzer.

Golden State had scored seven consecutive points to take a 100-98 lead late in regulation. But Walt Frazier stole the ball with 35 seconds left and fed Monroe, who was fouled by Gus Williams as he attempted a jumper with 27 seconds to play. Monroe made both free throws to tie the score and the game went into overtime when the Warriors' Phil Smith missed a jumper at the buzzer.

McAdoo led the Knicks with 29 points, Monroe had 24 and Frazier

Kovacs Pacers hero

Gary Kovac's free throw in overtime gave the Pacers a 32-31 win over the Bullets in Pleasanton Athletic League youth basketball Senior A 13-14 action last weekend.

Mike Moyers paced the winners with 12 points and Kovac and Jeff Thomsen added seven and six points respectively.

Mike Costello led the losers with 14 points and Dan Schaeffer added nine.

In other 13-14 A contests the Hawks edged the 76'ers 30-24 and the Dons topped the Celtics 27-22.

The Hawks trailed 19-7 at halftime but exploded for 21 second-half points while holding the Hawks to seven. Josh Shinnick and Damon Connolly each scored six points for the victors. Forward Kevin Elvrum led the losers with nine.

Dave Ferguson scored 10 of his team's 15 second-half points to lead the Dons to their win. He led their scorers with 14 points. Jerry Puertas and John Rudy led the Celtics with nine and eight points, respectively.

In senior B action the Flames edged the Roadrunners 23-20 as Tony Marcopolous and Glenn Reinberg combined for 19 of the victors' points. Grant Bazan had several key rebounds for the winners. Jeff Wilson led the losers with four points.

John Costello scorched the nets for 15 points as the Nuggets topped the Bruins 29-17. Dave Deshler and Dave Blanchard each had four points for the Bruins.

The Bullets beat the Bears 29-14 after leading only 11-8 at halftime. Galen Smith led the victors with nine points. Randy Isaacs and Curt Ackerman each had seven. Dave Parker and Matt McCleary each had four points for the losers.

A Kinck rally in the final quarter nipped the Trailblazers 18-16 in junior A 11-year old action. Kevin Ryan led the winners with 10 points. Mike Lawton paced the losers with 11.

The Warriors defeated the Lakers 20-14 as Scott Tudor, John Schwartzman and Eric Snowden each had five points. Mark Sarbiewski led the Lakers with 10 points.

Defense dominated as the Bulls topped the Celtics 9-6. Phil Shores scored all of the Celtic points. Jim Ghidossi led the winners with three points, including a vital free throw.

In junior B 9-10 year-old action the Hawks edged the Eagles 12-11 as Dave Wake scored nine points. Eric Winding led the Eagles with six points.

The Bullets upset the Warriors 12-10 behind the quarter field goals of Erik Thomsen and Mike Boone. Brian Warman led the losers with eight markers.

Swift guard Mike Riffee tallied 14 points as the Celtics bounced the Sonics 26-19. Riffee's points came in the first half. Mark Harris led the Sonics with seven points. Mike Moreland added four.

on a direct kick past SR goalie Bill Hefferman.

Granada had one other chance to score in the first half. This came late in the stanza when Kurt Honodel shot and missed at an empty goal past Hefferman, who had come out to attempt to save the ball.

The first half ended with the score 2-0, not a true indication of things to come.

The second half opened with the Mats in absolute control, the ball never getting anywhere near Matador goalie King.

The 2-0 lead quickly became 3-0 when Estill scored his second tally of the day, a 20 - yard kick after dribbling from midfield.

It was at this time when Granada started to miss scoring opportunities.

Manzar Iqbal, former scoring leader in the league, fired a 15 - yarder that just missed home, bouncing off the right upright. A minute later, he tried to knee the spheroid into the net, while Hefferman was ten yards away, but the shot went past the goalie box off to the right.

Moments after this, the strong - footed Burke nearly leveled the goal when his 20 yarder slammed into the crossbar.

Granada was more fortunate the next time though, and Estill completed his hat trick with another direct kick.

The Wolves, watching Granada's shooting spree, had no real chance at a goal all game, their two attempts proving ineffective.

San Ramon has but one game left, versus Dublin Friday, and it will be the last chance for the Lobos to put a mark on the win column. Their record now stands at 0-13, in the cellar of the EBAL.

Granada still is in the thick of the race for the league crown with Livermore. If either team loses now, the other will win the title.

Meanwhile, in yesterday's JV square - off, the Mats shut out the Wolves, the final in that game 3-0.

76er Center Out for Year

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Center Harvey Catchings of the Philadelphia 76ers will be sidelined for the remainder of the regular National Basketball Association season because of a fracture-dislocation of the right elbow, the team announced Monday night.

Catchings, injured during Sunday's game against Denver, has a marked swelling in the joint, a team spokesman said. The spokesman said a decision on surgery would not be made before later this week after the swelling goes down.

Catchings, 25, was examined by the team physician, Dr. Joseph Torg, after returning from Denver. Dr. Torg said he expected Catchings to be ready for the playoffs.

Catching hass been starting most of the season for the 76ers, leaders in the Atlantic Division of the NBA. He will be replaced by Caldwell Jones, with Darryl Dawkins serving as backup.

PNLL inks

Pleasanton National Little League will have signups from 7:30 to 9:30 tonight at the Pleasanton Library.

The signups will also include Senior League players.

But that was the end of the line for the Gaels as California moved its record to 4-8-1 and Dublin dropped to 6-7.

After the contest an ecstatic Cal mentor Jon Rego admitted his team was up for the contest.

"Dublin beat us 9-0 in the last game of the season last year," he said. "So we went out and did it today.

"I told the guys at halftime to slow it down and look for the ball and we'd score," he went on. "We wanted to end the season with pride but we still have to play Amador."

Peck's performance was especially impressive since he had been out for at least six games with a broken bone in his foot.

Sunday's climax

'Roots' broke all the TV records

NEW YORK — The serialization of "Roots" made television history last week, according to A.C. Nielsen figures made available today.

Last Sunday's concluding episode was the all-time most watched show in America. In addition, four of the 10 most watched shows in the history of television were episodes of the serialization of Alex Haley's novel.

With "Roots" listed in last week's national prime-time averages as seven of the top seven shows, ABC carried the entire week ending Jan. 30 with 16 of the top 16 shows.

Its lowest-ranked show of 67 rated programs was tied with CBS's "M.A.S.H." It was "The Captain and Tennille."

Ranked 26th, "The Captain and Tennille" was seen in an estimated 15.8 million homes.

The concluding episode of "Roots" posted a 51.1 rating, meaning it was viewed in 36.4 million households.

A Nielsen spokesman said it outpaced last fall's record-setting broadcast of "Gone with the Wind" on NBC. He said the rankings of the top shows in television history now stood this way:

"Roots," Jan. 30; "Gone with the Wind" — Part I, "Gone with the Wind" — Part II, "Bob Hope Christmas Special," 1970; "The Fugitive," 1967, and "Roots," Jan. 28, tied in fifth place; "Roots," Jan. 27; "Bob Hope Christmas Special," 1971; "Roots," Jan. 25; "Ed Sullivan Show," with the Beatles in 1964, and Super Bowl XI last month.

ABC said that during the eight nights "Roots" was aired starting Jan. 23, it was seen by 85 per cent of the potential viewing audience, or 130 million persons at one time or another.

It had an average 44.9 rating, which translates to 32 million homes, and was seen by an average of two-thirds of the television audience all week.

Serve on county agency

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Want to end apathy and put your voice in government?

First District Supervisor Valerie Raymond currently is interviewing for seven county commission appointments on a handful of boards.

There are two vacancies on the advisory committee on drug abuse and the social services commission. Two alternates are needed for the revenue sharing proposal review board. And there is one vacancy each on the status of women commission, emergency medical care committee and civil service commission.

Those interested in serving on any of the commissions should contact the new supervisor at her county administration building office, 1221 Oak St., Oakland (874-7367), or her south county office in the Fremont Main Library, 39977 Paseo Padre Parkway (791-1443).

The advisory committee on drug abuse, a new committee, will deal with problems of drug abuse and the county's role in alleviating the problem.

The social service commission advises the board of supervisors on public welfare and poverty in the county. The revenue sharing proposal review board recommends programs to be funded with some $5 to $6 million in federal revenue sharing funds.

Discrimination and prejudice against women is tackled by the county's status of women commission. And the emergency medical care committee reviews ambulance, first aid and other emergency service operations, making recommendations for improvment.

The civil service commission handles county employes under civil service jurisdiction.

Spring St. gets the business

PLEASANTON — Spring Street will be bustling with more commercial activity soon.

Jeep Ziemer, formerly associated with Taurus Crafts, will open a place at 139 Spring Street for the graphic design and writing of books.

Ken Miller will open an electrical contracting office at 228 Spring St. and a pest control office is planned for the corner of Spring and Railroad Avenue.

Grandma's House, an antique store formerly located in an old house on St. John St. near Main St., will share the premises at 264 Spring St. with the Pleasanton Sewing Center.

The former Grandma's House location has been sold to Tony Rovai of Tony's Hair Fashions. According to his real estate agent, Merle Telford, Rovai will install a barber shop and beauty shop in the old building, capitalizing on its Victorian charm.

Rhodes Jamieson approval

Alameda County Bureau

HAYWARD — Rhodes and Jamieson Co. won county planning commission approval this week to develop a 15.6 - acre concrete foundation beam operation on its lands north of Stanley Boulevard.

Commissioners earlier gave tentative approval provided truck traffic is confined to El Charro Road, the private link between Stanley Boulevard and I-580; the project be reviewed every five years to insure "consistency" with the recently written reclamation plan for the area; and that the operation be "floodproofed."

Rhodes and Jamieson, one of the Valley's "big four" sand and gravel miners, wants to start casting pre-fab, concrete foundation beams on the site bordered by the Arroyo Mocho, El Charro Road, the SP and WP railway tracks, and a private ranch road.

Plans call for a casting area, storage yard and office building with parking, according to the county planning department report.

No More Cop Shows for Him

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Producer Quinn Martin, long noted for tough cop shows, doesn't see his new anthology series as a departure but as a return to his origins.

His new show, his fourth on the air, is "Quinn Martin's Tales of the Unexpected," which premieres Wednesday night at 10 p.m. on Channels 3 and 4.

"It's back to Square 1," he said. "The first show I ever wrote for was 'Four Star Playhouse.' The first show I ever produced was 'The Jane Wyman Show.' The second I produced was 'Desilu Playhouse,' from which emerged 'The Untouchables.'"

It was "The Untouchables" which stamped Martin with an image for two-fisted series. Such as "The Fugitive," "Dan August," "Cannon," "Manhunter" and the current "Streets of San Francisco," "Barnaby Jones" and "Most Wanted."

Military reports

LIVERMORE — Navy Seaman Apprentice Danny F. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy F. King of 935 Venus Way, is serving as a crewmember aboard the submarine tender USS Proteus.

His ship, a 574-foot "floating repair shop," is homeported in Apra Harbor, Guam. The Proteus is specially equipped and designed to provide complete service for nuclear powered fleet ballistic missile submarines.

Besides providing technical and mechanical expertise and repair facilities, the Proteus supports the "Silent Service" by replenishing food supplies, movies and recreation equipment, plus providing medical and dental facilities.

A 1975 graduate of Granada High School, he attended Chabot College in Hayward and joined the Navy in May, 1976.

DUBLIN — Linda L. Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Pierce of 11611 Castillian Court, has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Pierce, an integrated avionics systems specialist, is assigned at Upper Heyford RAF Station, England, with a unit of the U.S. Air Forces in Europe.

The airman graduated in 1974 from Dublin High School and attended the Chabot Valley Campus.

Castlewood

Club officers

Merc Barnes of Pleasanton has been elected new president of Castlewood Country Club by the board of directors. At their first meeting in 1977, the board also selected Fred Chester, Pleasanton, as vice - president, Norm Davis, San Ramon, secretary, and Rod Stevenson, Pleasanton, as treasurer.

Merc Barnes

Fred Chester

Norm Davis

Rod Stevenson

Barnes has been a Castlewood member since 1959. Born in Aurora, Illinois, he served in the U.S. Navy Air Corps, and graduated from the University of Southern California.

He is the co-owner of S-Mercer Industries.

Barnes has been a board member at the club since 1975, and has served on the tournament and entertainment committees.

Chester joined the club in 1971, and succeeds Barnes as vice - president. He has been a board member since 1974 and has served on the finance committee.

He was born in New London, Conn., and graduated from the University of Connecticut. He is vice - president of finance for Swensen's Ice Cream Co.

Davis, the new secretary, had been chairman of the green and grounds committee at Castlewood. He was born in Philadelphia and graduated from the University of Michigan. He joined Castlewood in 1968.

Norm was a project engineer for Eastman Kodak.

Treasurer Stevenson joined Castlewood in 1972 and has served on the junior golf committee as well as the board of directors.

Stevenson, born in Scotland, graduated from University of Indiana. He is president of Larwin, Northern California.

Decker warns delay

Wally Decker, outgoing president of the Amador Valley Joint High School District board, has sent a letter to Valley news media in which is directed a message to teachers which opines that going to fact-finding will only cause further months of delay in settling on a contract.

In his letter - within - a - letter to district teachers, Decker states, "I believe that the proposed contract, which was negotiated with the aid of the State Conciliation Service in November, was a good compromise for this year and could provide the basis for continuing work on some of the unresolved issues during the coming months.

"The prospect of further delay of several months if fact-finding is carried on is not pleasant for either the board or the teachers to contemplate. However, as we have indicated in the past, we welcome scrutiny of the budget and feel that fact-finding will yield us no new information. Like you, we'd like our energies to be focused on the classroom.

"I realize that the tentative settlement doesn't meet your association's goals on the issues of binding arbitration and agency shop. The board, however, feels they have stretched their position as far as they can.

"I sincerely believe that the tentative settlement provides a just process for our relations with the teachers and one that we can study further to determine the best way for us to operate in the long run. Our mutual goal is to achieve a good working relationship, not just a point in a contract.

"I would rather see us work on the root of the problem than continue the arm wrestling that is now going on."

Hands off park-rec budget

PLEASANTON — It's fine for the city to get into the area of human services, but if the time comes when any budget money is diverted to it from park and recreation uses, Chuck Gielow will be against it.

That's what he told his fellow park and recreation commissioners last week when they discussed the goals of the Department of Recreation and Human Resources' budget for the coming year.

The department currently employs Diane McKenna four days each week to do social services work. Her salary is paid by ACAP/ACTEB, county - wide successor to the old War on Poverty.

The ACAP/ACTEB funding runs out in October, though there could be more funding from that source or another non - city source. But if there is no funding from another source, Gielow doesn't want the money coming from the park and recreation budget, since such a move would dilute park and recreation programs, he feels. Gielow feels strongly about it and thinks the other commissioners, do, too.

Gielow's position is a bit premature, he said. The discussion came up only because Director of Human Reources Bob Caporusso told the commission during the budget review that the city might have to start paying McKenna's salary after October.

On another item, the commission reviewed the master plan for Sports and Recreation Park and decided to drop the lagoon from the plan. The lagoon had been planned for the Hopyard Road entrance to the park for the past eight years or so, but commissioners decided that it would be too expensive to maintain. Caporusso said that some kind of passive design still will be incorporated for that entrance to the park.

EBRPD, Pleasanton at odds on funds

PLEASANTON — The park and recreation commission last week sent letters to the county board of supervisors asking that funds from state proposition 2 be distributed to park agencies on a per capita basis.

The commission's stand is in direct opposition to that of the East Bay Regional Park District, which wants the funds allocated on a project by project basis.EBRPD would stand to gain 25 per cent of the funds available to the county if the project basis is used, said City Director of Recreation and Human Resources Robert Caporusso.

The project approach would leave the city with nothing, said Caporusso. The per capita formula would give the city $149,999.

The county's park and recreation advisory board is expected to make a recommendation to the board of supervisors on which method it prefers.
